DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kasahara et al. (2002/0036650 A1).
2. As in claim 1, Kasahara et al. teaches of a matrix display device, figure 9, comprising a plurality of light emitting elements, figure 9 item 24, drive means, figure 9 items 20, 22, 34, arranged for sub-field addressing of the light emitting elements and characterized by determining means, for determining a display load of the device, figure 9 item 26 and 28, and control means, for dynamically varying a number of sub-fields available for display of an image responsive to said determined display load being below a threshold value, figure 9 item 30.
3. As in claim 2, Kasahara et al. teaches of wherein the drive means comprises a subfield converter, figure 9 item 34, and a matrix display drive means, coupled to the subfield converter, figure 9 items 20 and 22; both the subfield converter and the determining means are receiving an incoming video signal, figure 9 item 2; the determining means comprises means for providing information about the display load to the control means, figure 9 item 26 and 28; the control means is coupled to the subfield converter for dynamically varying the number of subfields available to display the image, figure 9 item 30; and the matrix display drive means are coupled to the light emitting elements, figure 9 items 20, 22, and 24.

4. As in claim 3, Kasahara et al. teaches of a comprising means for applying partial line doubling and being coupled to the control means to receive information related to the display load and coupled to the matrix display drive means, to apply partial line doubling responsive to said display load being determined to be below a threshold value, figure 9 item 18, figure 20 item 18. As in claim 4, Kasahara et al. teaches of comprising means for applying dithering and being coupled to the control means to receive information related to the display load and coupled to the matrix display drive means for applying dithering, responsive to said display load being determined to be below a threshold value, figure 9 item 18, figure 20 item 18. As in claim 5, Kasahara et al. teaches of and including means for applying partial line doubling responsive to the said display load being determined to be below a threshold value, figure 9 item 18, figure 20 item 18. As in claim 6, Kasahara et al. teaches of a; and including means for applying dithering, responsive to the said display load being determined to be below a threshold value, figure 9 item 18, figure 20 item 18. As in claim 7, Kasahara et al. teaches of a, and determining means comprising processor means for continuously monitoring the display load, figure 9 items 26 and 28. As in claims 8-13, Kasahara et al. teaches of said control means, figure 8 item 30. As in claim 15, Kasahara et al. teaches of a display apparatus arranged for receiving a video signal and for processing the signal so as to display an image determined by the signal, the image determining a display load within the apparatus, and the apparatus having means for receiving a power supply having regard to the display load, figure 9 item 54.

5. As in claim 14, Kasahara et al. teaches of a method of controlling light output from a matrix display device employing sub-field addressing and comprising determining the display load of the device, figure 9 item 26 and 28 (brightness detector), and characterized by the steps dynamically varying the number of sub-fields available for display of an image responsive to said display load being determined to below a threshold value, figure 9 item 30 and 34, page 2 paragraphs 28-30.
